

GracefulFILMS

Gracefulfilms is a full service production/post-production company in the bay area that aspires to create bold, sophisticated, authentic, avant-garde media for Internet and broadcast. From development through post-production, we write, shoot, edit and animate projects on a wide range of budgets.

There is a great need for the empowerment of new, original, brave and progressive voices in the film and video industry. One of our defining attributes is that we mentor up-and-coming women directors, writers, designers and videographers. This not only gives the artists a chance to present and improve their unique skills, it also establishes an environment where their ideas and voices are nurtured and encouraged.
